BOND ELECTION SET OCTOBER 28

VOTERS WILL BE ASKED TO APPROVE COMMUNITY CENTER COMPLETION

The long awaited bond issues for completion of the Community Center, modernization of the local water system and expansion of the fire department will be presented to voters October 28.

In making this announcement today, City Administrator Dan Andersen said he did not know the exact amounts residents would be requested to approve for the improvements.

However, past surveys indicate the community Center project will run to about $160,000; the water from $400,000 to $500,000; and the fire department expansion from $100,000 to $200,000. Exact figures will be available upon completion of an engineering survey now being made.

A resolution of intention setting up the date of the election will be passed by the city council Monday evening. Andersen said it was decided to hold the election a week before the general November 4 ballot in order "to prevent any confusion among voters."

Plans Scuttled

With the decision to go ahead with the election the council has abandoned plans for landscaping and developing the Community Center site out of money from the general funds. This was forced last week when bids for the job were found to be several times greater than estimated. However, Andersen said work will go ahead on plumbing and A. M. Harrison, who bid $4,656, is expected to get the job.

Specifically the bond issues will

PG&E Sub Station Hearing Before Commission Soon

Plans to erect a PG&E sub station in Colma will be aired befor the county planning commission Wednesday, September 17.

George Lagomarsino, 50 Park avenue, Los Gatos, reported today PG&E hopes to erect the station on a two block area between Chester and Market and Orange and Atlanta.

The substation will adjoin a section of the new Colma school.

A San Mateo superior court jury recently returned a verdict awarding Lagomarsino $40,000 for the two blocks condemned by PG&E. The former Daly City man was represented by Judge Thos. Bocci and the case was heard from August 18 to August 22 before Judge Murray Draper.

Daly City Escapes Holiday Accidents

Despite a record breaking number of holiday travelers through Daly City, this community escaped the Labor Day period without one traffic accident.

Daly City police report the accident rate for the three days was actually under the norm for a holiday period.

In cooperation with the Bay Area Traffic Executive Council, local officers held a road block here Friday evening. The block went into operation at Mission near School at 8 o'clock and continued until midnight.

Officer Henry Sundermann, in charge of the check, and Officer Lester Bastedo and six auxiliary policemen stopped 446 automobiles. No citations were issued, but 34 were warned of faulty equipment, mostly defective lights.

Daly City Dodge Salesman Receives National Honors

Don Middleton, of Carl Haas Motors, 7070 Mission street, Daly City, was honored recently by the Dodge division of The Chrysler corporation for outstanding accomplishment in the retailing of Dodge passenger cars and trucks.

As a result of his high retail sales, Middleton received a charter membership in the Dodge "400" Club. A special pin and club membership were presented to him by Robert E. Dull, Dodge district manager.

Best Record

The "400" Club is a permanent organization with membership each year determined by the best individual sales records. Middleton will have as associates other top Dodge salesmen across the nation, as a member of the club.

Official word of his sales success came to Middleton in a congratulatory message from E. C. Dock, general sales manager of Dodge in Detroit, who referred to his work as a splendid achievement.

Top 10 Per Cent

An engineer by profession and former district manager for Chrysler corporation, Middleton received the award for being one of the top 10 per cent of approximately 15,000 Dodge salesmen for the 4,300 Dodge dealers throughout the country.

It is the first time such an award had been presented to a local man.

Supervisors Seeking More Power

As our government becomes more complex, as the public becomes more apathetic, politicians become more daring.

This was never so true as in San Mateo county where this week the board of supervisors summarily suggested abolishing seven elective posts. The five supervisors want these posts to be appointive, with the supervisors doing the appointing.

Not only is this a move from democracy to oligarchy, but it is a direct insult to the intelligence of the voting public.

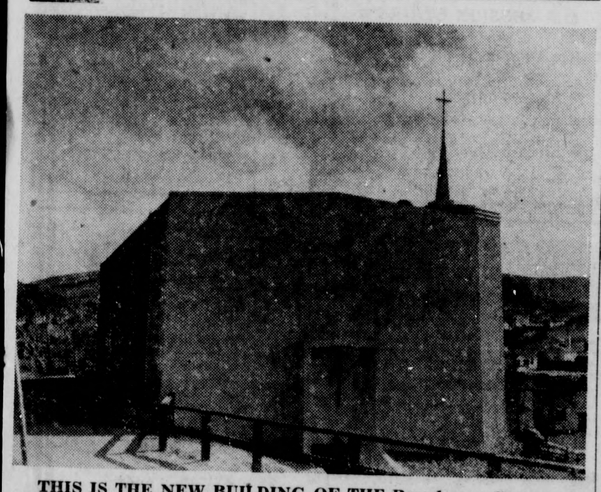
Obviously the supervisors feel they are the only men with the judgment and experience suitable to select the county coroner, county clerk, controller, engineer, recorder, tax collector and treasurer.

The voters neither have the skill nor omniscience to continue selecting these all important county officials.

It is strange, then, that for so many years the public has done such a fine job of electing officials—even the very supervisors who wish to curb the electorate system.

Without benefit of a "political education" it is evident to even the most casual voter the real purpose in such a move. The supervisors simply hope, through public apathy, to take over more and more power. Power is a dangerous thing, and it definitely has no place in the local democratic setup.

We can not help but observe that while the actual suggestion for removing the elective posts was not directly made by the supervisors, it came from one of their few appointive heads, County Manager E. Robert Stallings. This should be evidence enough to what use the supervisors would put other men, if able to get them under their thumb through appointment.



THIS IS THE NEW BUILDING OF THE Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church where 180 first, second and third graders will attend school on double-session schedule. Four rooms of the church were made available to the elementary school district after requests to make classroom use of the War Memorial Center were turned down by the city council.

BERTETTA NAMED COMMISSION HEAD

A former city councilman this week was named chairman of the city's newly created planning commission.

He is Fred Bertetta, a resident of Westlake and a councilman here from 1948 to 1952. The five man board also selected Sanford Vickers as secretary.

Both men will be sworn in by the city clerk this week and will take charge of the first regular meeting Friday, September 12.

Subsequent meetings will be held the second Tuesday of every month at 8 p. m. in City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

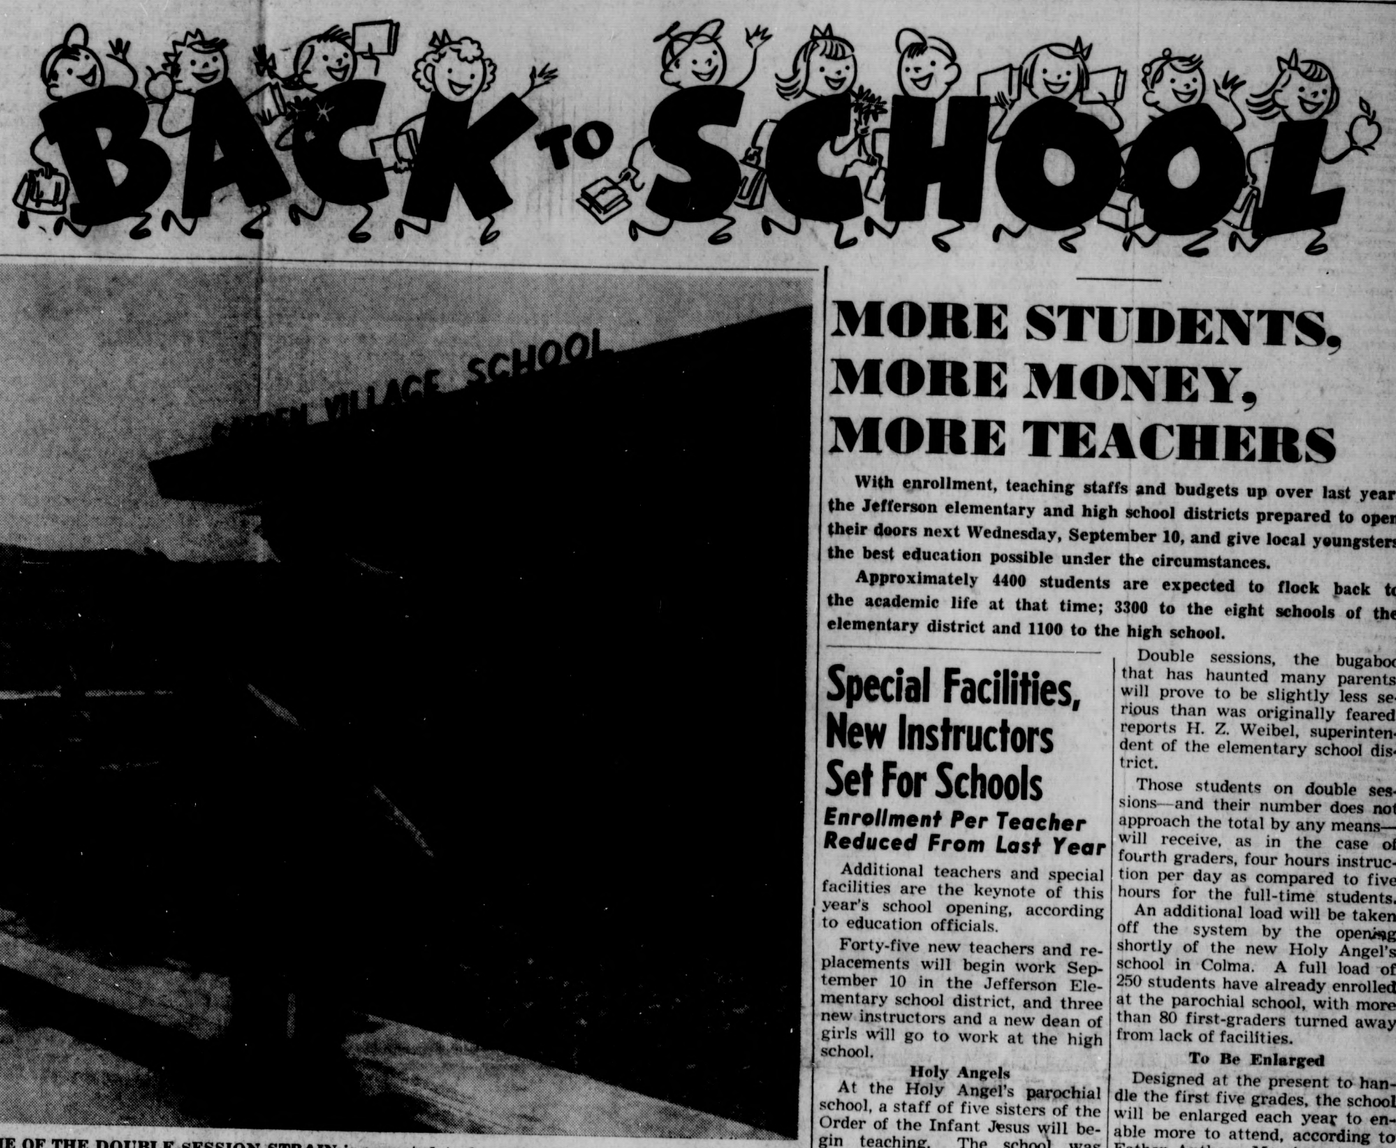
Other members of the commission include: Thomas Tromborg, Val Franz and William Pinney.

SUNDERMANN THANKS RESIDENTS' SUPPORT OF RECENT DANCE

Officer Henry Sundermann today thanked all local residents who assured the success of the recent Peninsula Police Officers association dance.

The affair was hailed a complete success by Sundermann, who added Daly City ticket buyers assisted greatly in putting it over this year.

All money from the affair will be used to assist the widows and orphans of county officers.



SOME OF THE DOUBLE-SESSION STRAIN is expected to be relieved when new additions to the Garden Village school are completed. With construction tentatively set for completion about Christmastime, it is hoped that the six new classrooms, new kindergarten room and multi-use room will be ready for occupancy by February of next year. Here Robert Waller, inspector for Jefferson Elementary school district, looks over the blueprints. The additions will cost approximately $300,000.

BROADMOOR RESIDENTS SUE COUNTY; SAY DRAINAGE LACK FLOODED THEM

Suits, petitions, and a storm of irate citizens descended on the county board of supervisors this week, and all because of little Colma creek.

Charging that replacement of the creek bed with allegedly insufficient tubing caused floods to inundate their homes, 25 Broadmoor residents living on 88th and 89th street petitioned the county to take steps to keep them high and dry this year.

At the same time, two suits totaling $31,000 were filed against the county, Stoneson Brothers—who put in the tubing—and Henry Doelger Construction, owner of some of the land abutting the frequently flooded properties.

The suits were filed by Attorney Thomas Jenkins on behalf of Aden Cuikendall, 624 Larchmont, and E. G. Miller, 620 Larchmont. They assert that negligent construction of drainage has ruined their homes and made them unsalable.

Another Suit

Another suit was filed by Attorney Thomas L. Bocci on behalf of Dominic J. Gustavino, Rt. 1, Box 373, Colma. Guastavino is asking $20,000 damages and an injunction requiring the county and Stoneson to correct the reported condition.

Owner of a nursery overlooking the property of the 25 petitioning residents—who were represented by Bocci at a meeting of the board of supervisors—Gustavino told THE RECORD his property had been flooded 15 times in the past five years; the water rising over the tops of his greenhouses and damaging his crop.

Raise Level

Guastavino insisted that, unless adequate drainage was installed, he would raise the level of his own property in self-protection. "That'll flood all these people who are petitioning," he said. "I don't want to do that but this is jeopardizing my living."

"After a good rain, it only takes about 15 minutes to flood my whole property — they've raised some of that nearby land so high that everything drains right down on us."

Represented

The 25 petitioners were represented Tuesday at a meeting of the supervisors by Bocci, who told them that a $7500 catch basin construction on Washington street is not enough relief for the stricken homes.

Daly City Police Commissioner Races Stork—Successfully

Daly City Police Commissioner Tony Ricci, who normally acts in a purely advisory capacity, played policeman Labor Day in a 70-mile-per-hour race with the stork, which he won.

Making a routine tour of inspection with Acting Sgt. Jim Welsh of the local force, Ricci took the wheel of a Letterman hospital-bound car when the grandmother of the baby-on-the-way called for help, saying she was too nervous to drive farther.

Sgt. Welsh escorted Ricci, the grandmother and mother (almost) in their speeding car into San Francisco, where an SFPD car took over the lead.

The baby and Ricci, at latest report, were both doing fine.

THIEF GETS $225 HAUL . . . ALL SPARK PLUGS

An unknown thief is rolling in spark plugs today—$225 worth of them.

Peter Conci, owner of the Shell Service Station at the corner of Hillside boulevard and Mission street reported to Daly City police Monday that spark plugs valued at that amount were stolen from his station in the early afternoon while he was servicing a car.

Slate New Bus Route

If plans go according to schedule, the No. 76 bus will be re-routed in approximately 45 days to cover south Daly City, Broadmoor and Westlake, City Administrator Dan Andersen announced early today.

In a meeting last week at City Hall, members of the council, Andersen, and representatives of the Westlake and Broadmoor property owners associations drew up a double route that, it is hoped, will satisfy all concerned.

Once Per Hour

Only outstanding drawback is the frequency of the run—the bus would hit any given point only once per hour.

Muni railway officials have already inspected the route-to-be. It must still, however, be passed upon by the San Francisco Public Utilities commission.

Drawn up by a group including Mayor Paul Green, Councilman Jim Kennedy, George Pingry, Al Desmond and William Ziegler of the Westlake Improvement Association, and George Alexander and William O'Neill of the Broadmoor group, the double route will run as follows:

Proposed Schedule

Mission street to School to 87th, left at Washington, up MacArthur drive onto Larchmont, then back on 87th to Maddux, over Maddux to Southgate, left on Southgate to Dorchester, onto the Alemany extension and up to Junipero Serra.

Turning left on Junipero Serra, it will go to Worchester (near Parkmerced) to end the trip.

On the return route, it will come back to Maddux and 87th

MORE STUDENTS, MORE MONEY, MORE TEACHERS

With enrollment, teaching staffs and budgets up over last year, the Jefferson elementary and high school districts prepared to open their doors next Wednesday, September 10, and give local youngsters the best education possible under the circumstances.

Approximately 4400 students are expected to flock back to the academic life at that time; 3300 to the eight schools of the elementary district and 1100 to the high school.

Special Facilities, New Instructors Set For Schools

Enrollment Per Teacher Reduced From Last Year

Additional teachers and special facilities are the keynote of this year's school opening, according to education officials.

Forty-five new teachers and replacements will begin work September 10 in the Jefferson Elementary school district, and three new instructors and a new dean of girls will go to work at the high school.

Holy Angels

At the Holy Angel's parochial school, a staff of five sisters of the Order of the Infant Jesus will begin teaching. The school was OK'd recently by the Mother General of the order (establ. in 1622), who flew over from Paris to inspect facilities. In charge will be Mother Superior Thomas Aquinas.

In the elementary school, 125 certificated teachers and 16 without certificates will handle the teaching chores.

The enrollment per teacher for the district is reduced from an average of 37 for 1951-52 to an average of 32 for 1952-53.

The administrative, coordinating and special services staff listed below are at the service of the elementary district to render all the help they can to promote the development and welfare of each child enrolled.

Principal, Colma school, Miss Marjorie Tobias; principal, Crocker school, Miss Elisabeth Kennedy; principal, Garden Village school, Miss Aileen Suber; principal, General Pershing school, Miss Winifred McGrath; principal, Jefferson school, Miss Marie Traynor; principal, Woodrow Wilson school, Mrs. Ethel Hahn; principal,

Ike-Nixon Rally Slated Sept. 12th

The first big county rally for Eisenhower and the Republican candidates will get its send-off at Tanforan Clubhouse, San Bruno, on Friday evening, September 12, with a Jack Anderson Rally for Eisenhower and Nixon, it was announced today by Rudolph A. Rapsey, San Bruno general chairman.

The event will also honor the fourteen years of service Congressman Jack Z. Anderson has given to San Mateo county. Anderson will be the featured speaker for the north-county rally sponsored by all the republican groups of San Mateo County.

Other speakers will be Republican congressional candidate Arthur Younger, and Frank Ingersoll, chairman of the County Republican Central Committee. North county civic leaders will be invited to participate and a full program with a well-known master of ceremonies and musical entertainment will round out the rally.

All Invited

"Everyone in San Mateo County is invited to attend," Rapsey said, but the rally is especially planned to build up enthusiasm for the Republican candidates in the Double sessions, the bugaboo that has haunted many parents, will prove to be slightly less serious than was originally feared, reports H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the elementary school district.

Those students on double sessions—and their number does not approach the total by any means—will receive, as in the case of fourth graders, four hours instruction per day as compared to five hours for the full-time students.

An additional load will be taken off the system by the opening shortly of the new Holy Angel's school in Colma. A full load of 250 students have already enrolled at the parochial school, with more than 80 first-graders turned away from lack of facilities.

To Be Enlarged

Designed at the present to handle the first five grades, the school will be enlarged each year to enable more to attend, according to Father Anthony Morrissey, pastor of Holy Angel's church. Already open and in full swing is Our Lady of Perpetual Help school in Daly City.

At Jefferson Union high school the school term opens with a general assembly at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday morning. Freshman boys will meet in the gymnasium and freshman girls will sit in the balcony of the auditorium.

Counselling

New students, that is those who have moved into the district during the summer, went or will go to the high school, 6996 Mission street, yesterday, today and tomorrow, Friday, to discuss their programs with counsellors. Office hours are 9-12 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

Returning students will find the auditorium, halls and a number of class rooms newly painted. A new floor has been laid on the stage and many other improvements in the school have been completed.

Pool Repairs

The swimming pool repairs and alteration of boilers will not be completed before October 1, principal Stanford Hannah announced.

In the elementary schools, all first graders will get full-time instruction—200 minutes per day exclusive of recess. Also, Pershing school and the Thornton school will be free of double sessions.

Complete double sessions through all but the first grade will be in effect at the Colma school and at Crocker. Garden Village school will be on the double schedule for the second and third grades (as far as it goes), but completion of work on the new building—expected by February of '53, is expected to relieve some of the strain.

At Jeff and Woodrow

At Jefferson Elementary school the fifth and sixth grades will go doubled up, and at Woodrow Wilson, two second grades will be on the regular schedule, two on the double and the third and fourth grade on the double.

The over-crowded conditions will probably hit hardest at the Westlake school, where all grades will be doubled except the first. Increase at the Westlake school is expected to come from Broadmoor, which, Weibel says, simply does not have the facilities in its own immediate area. Many Broadmoor children as a result will go to Westlake.

The Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church, which offered its new church building for classes at a minimal fee, will house 18 children on double session in four classrooms. They will be second and third graders only, and will be considered part of the Garden Village school.

The 3300 expected elementary school enrollment is only 100 more than last year's figure, said Weibel, although a generous number of new teachers and special services are being offered.

The district budget for the year is nearly doubled, however, over last year. For 1951-52 it was some $450,000 less than the better-than-a-milion budget for '52-53.

"All We Need Is Classrooms"

"All we need now is classrooms," Weibel yesterday told THE RECORD. "If the buildings now under construction were completed (Eds. note: Garden Village, Colma, and Benjamin Franklin), we could house them all without double sessions or any emergency measures."

However, he added, by the time the new buildings are ready to be occupied, larger enrollments will probably mean a slight—if any—change in the picture.

Jahanbakhsh Jahanbani Found Guilty Yesterday

Jahanbakhsh Jahanbani, Redwood City, a native of Persia, was found guilty yesterday by Municipal Judge William J. Sweeney of an assault and battery charge against his wife, Audrey, 138½ Parkview avenue, Daly City.

He was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail.

be for:

1. Completing the Community Center building which will consist of finishing off the north wing, landscaping, site development and purchase of necessary recreation equipment.

2. Modernization of the water system, including a new well and reservoir in the Westlake area. Councilmen say this can be done by revenue bonds, and will result in no increase in taxes.

Fire Department

3. Enlarging the fire department by building a fire house in Westlake, equipping it, and construction of two dormitories at Company No. 2, Santa Barbara and Parkview and at Company No. 4, Roosevelt and Peoria. This will allow a 24 hour shift. Under the present setup, the full time department is on duty only during the day, and the city relys on the auxiliary department at night. In time the city hopes to expand the fire department to 10 men.

northern part of San Mateo County from Millbrae north to Westlake and Daly City and from Brisbane to Sharp Park and the Coastside."

"The Eisenhower-Nixon campaign will really be underway in San Mateo County after this rally gets started," L. Herbert Harris, chairman of the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign in San Mateo said. "We have had many people volunteer their services and are impatient to do something to get Ike and Dick elected in November, they can all start helping right now to see that we get a huge turnout for this Jack Anderson Rally for Eisenhower next Friday," Harris added.

Rally Meet

Rapsey announced that a meeting woul dbe held of his rally committee Monday evening at the San Bruno city hall at 8 p.m. to set up final plans for the rally. Representatives from the following groups will attend: Republican Central Committee of San Mateo, Council of Republican Women, Young Republicans, Republican Assembly, Pro America, Eisenhower-Nixon Campaign committee, Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon and the Younger for Congress committee.

Polio Hits Twice In One Family

Polio struck down two children in one Daly City family this week.

Under treatment for the malady in Community Hospital today are: Jonathan Dunn,4 and his sister Judy, 14. They are the children of J. Dunn, 65 Acton street.

County authorities report this is the first case of polio hitting one family twice during the past year.

Young Jonathan came down with the disease last Wednesday and by Sunday his sister was also in the hospital.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

The department of defense has announced that Pfc. James L. Burnett, son of Mrs. Jessie M. Kody, 191 San Diego avenue, Daly City, has been wounded in action while serving with the Marines in Korea.

B'moor Residents Sue County

M. A. Grant, county engineer, told THE RECORD yesterday that a contract for the work had been let approximately two weeks ago and construction was due to start this week.

Hopes

"We hope it will be enough to correct the situation," he said.

The supervisors, upon hearing Bocci, directed Grant to meet with and engineering representative of the petitioners and work out a solution.

Those petitioning are:

Miss Agnes Bye, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Capola, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Milani, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frisch, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Quist, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gerand, Miss Leona Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. William Beck, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weatherwax.

Slate New Bus Route

and down to Junipero Serra. The bus will then go right on Junipero Serra to the Washington street overpass, left to San Pedro and Mission, and up Mission to the top-of-the-hill.

Each trip will require 30 minutes, making one hour between one end of the line to the other.

Connections

At Worchester the No. 76 will connect with the 28 and 36 busses and the M street car.

Muni officials, in discussing the route, added that frequency of the schedule will be stepped up if the route proves financially successful.

In the meantime, over 1000 residents of lower Daly City and Broadmoor have signed a petition calling for extension of the present route past its current School street turnoff and down to San Pedro road, through that section of the city, Broadmoor and Westlake. City officials hope that the new route will prove satisfactory to those who now consider themselves "left out" of the transportation scheme.

Pastor's Opinion

Father Anthony Morrissey, pastor of Holy Angels church, yesterday told THE RECORD: "Down here we have the Jefferson Elementary school, the Colma school, the new Bank of America, our new school and church, the Garden Village school, the Lagomarsino tract and Sterling tract ...all these people need and have a right to good transportation facilities.

"What's especially important is that the transportation be so scheduled that school children will be able to get back and forth to school easily."

LOSES BILLFOLD -- $100

A billfold containing over $100 in checks and currency was lost yesterday, Wednesday, at 11:30 a.m. on Mission street by Mrs. Martha Williams, Springfield, Mo., who is currently staying at 6818 Mission street.

Only Five Local Donors Reported By Blood Bank

Only five people from the Daly City-Colma area donated blood at the San Mateo county blood bank at latest report.

They were Sam Silicani, Fred Adams, Mrs. Sue Boicelli, Mrs. Mary Beroldo and Gino Asseroto, all of Daly City.

It takes but a little time a slight pinprick of pain to give a pint of blood. A wounded GI can need it very badly.

Salesman's Body Discovered In Local Motel

Mystery surrounded the death today of a young advertising agent whose body was discovered by his business partner swinging from a bathroom door in a local motel.

Dead is Norbert Meyer, 30, 2413 Greenwood drive, San Pablo. His nude body was found with a belt around his neck, the belt strung through a wire hanger and the hanger in turn suspended from the bathroom door. Police were amazed that the hanger would have held his 190 pounds.

Meyer's partner, a free lance advertising agent for theatres, said he discovered the body at 11:15 a. m. today. The partner is John J. Madden, 40, 1502 Olive street, Richmond.

Madden could give no reason for Meyer possibly killing himself, nor was any note found to indicate a motive for suicide.

Officers Dave Johnston and John Colman reported Madden as telling the following story:

"We checked into the motel on Tuesday. Wednesday night I received a phone call from my wife saying she was sick. I left for Richmond, but first made an appointment at noon with my partner. I left the motel at 5:45 Wednesday evening. That was the last time I saw Meyer alive."

An autopsy is slated for later this week, and until then police are hesitant to give any definite decision as to cause of death.

Meyer was married and the father of two young children.

'51 Anglers Took Over 18,000,000 Trout Say Officials

More than 18 million trout were caught by nearly half-a-million anglers during 1951, according to the year's catch reports, recently completed by State Department of Fish and Game tabulators.

Trout and striped bass fishing have maintained a stable ratio betwen anglers and their bag in recent years, the figures show. An estimated 144,000 fishermen caught 1,490,000 stripers during 1951.

The salmon sport fishery showed a large increase in 1951, with 79,000 anglers catching 564,000 salmon.

Warm-water fisheries have declined recently, probably due to prolonged drought in Southern California. The agency estimated that 108,000 successful anglers took 1,280,000 black bass; 76,000 fishermen landed 2,380,000 crappie; and 102,000 anglers bagged 4,800,000 sunfish in 1951.

Catfishing took a slight upward trend, with 171,000 successful anglers catching 4,710,000 catfish.

HIGHER OLD-AGE BENEFITS SEEN

The new benefit formula that is now used to figure social security payments will mean higher old-age and survivors insurance benefits to many wage earners who are now filing claims, Edward J. Foley, manager of the San Mateo social security field office said today.

The social security amendments of 1950 provided that wage earners who are now 65 or over, and who retire after they have worked for at least a year and a half after 1950 in a job covered by social security, can take advantage of this new formula, he pointed out.

Monthly Wage Base

Benefits are based on the average monthly wage that the worker earned during this time. The new formula effective September, 1952, provides for benefits of 55% of the first $100 of the wage earner's average monthly wage and 15% on all over that up to the maximum of $300.

The field office for the San Mateo county area is located at 517 E. 4th avenue, San Mateo. The telephone number is DI 4-6803.

THE RECORD RECOMMENDS

As a reminder to you and your elected officials THE RECORD this week inaugurates a civic improvement "box score" dictated by public need.

The right hand column carries the number of days final action has been held up on these issues. We hope this guide will be instrumental in bringing about some of these needed reforms.

	Days Delayed
A coordinated civilian defense organization which would meet at least once a month to discuss disaster problems.	750
A Chamber of Commerce supported by local businessmen to improve the community.	105
Proper transportation facilities for Westlake and Daly City, preferably a privately operated line.	435
Recreation: Park for Westlake area; Completion of the Community Center building; Night lights for Marchbanks park.	275
An end to flagrant use of closed door caucus meetings to carry on the majority of the city's business.	1,444

School Picture Looks Better Here

Next week many a local youngster will be "creeping like a snail unwillingly to school."

A good many of those children in the Daly City area will be on double sessions, but for the first time in years the overall school housing picture is brighter.

Despite the shortage of schoolrooms, the Jefferson elementary school system has a full head of steam up on its building program. With any luck at all by this time next year there should be enough classrooms to take care of not only this year's 3,300 students, but the expected increases.

Another source of relief is in plain sight, come November 4, when parents, educators and all others interested in California public schools may endorse the $185,000,000 school construction bond issue by casting a majority "Yes" vote on Proposition 24.

And rounding out the prospect for bettering the entire elementary and secondary school system is an equally important ballot proposition—Number 2—which increases State aid to the schools. A "Yes" vote on Number 2 is imperative in order to relieve public education from the crippling handicap of inflationary costs that have been made more burdensome by the heavy increase in school population.

Only through voter apathy toward the public schools could these sound measures fail of passage at the polls. And that, in view of the urgent need for relief on both counts, would seem unthinkable.

City Faces Biggest "Selling Job"

One of the biggest selling jobs in the history of the city is going to be needed between now and October 28 when voters go to the polls to decide on several important local issues.

Hardest bit of salesmanship will involve putting over the $160,000 bond issue to complete the Community Center building. We believe this can best be done by a clear picture of where past funds have gone, and just why the money is needed to finish the building.

Possibly even of more importance will be two other bond issues—to improve the local water and fire department systems. As the city officials believe the tax rate will not be boosted by floating revenue bonds to pay off the water improvements, this should present no problem. People never mind approving something which will raise their standard of living and at the same time cost them nothing.

Need for a new firehouse in Westlake and other steps to modernize the fire department should be obvious to everyone. It is evident to gentlemen in insurance companies who now handle your fire insurance, for contrary to what they will have you believe officially, over a cup of coffee they admit fire insurance rates will go up here unless the local hose hoisters are given better and more equipment with which to work.

Admission Day

One hundred and two years is a long time, but "Miss" California is showing no signs of age. Although in recent years she has taken on weight—the weight of influence, that is—she is still in excellent shape.

And she's popular, too. People all over the world have heard about her beauty and sunny disposition. The result is that hundreds of thousands come to visit her every year. Many of them become permanent boarders.

Politicians are particularly fond of her because she has a lot of nice electoral votes for the presidential candidate of her choice. And many eastern industrialists who once thought she wasn't attractive to them have come running to get acquainted.

In spite of her age, Miss California is a romantic figure. On September 9, when she observes her one hundred and second birthday, you may be sure that her millions of admirers will give her quite a shindig. What a gal!

Come To The Fair

California's Annual State Fair in Sacramento gives the citizenry of the Gold State an occasion to burst a few more buttons in the pride of achievement and progress.

This year there will probably be more than the usual quota of buttons popping loose. The reason? California is not only maintaining its eminent position in agriculture, industry and commerce, but is rapidly overtaking other states in those divisions in which she is not yet tops. Cotton growing is a good example. Not many years ago California's cotton production was relatively insignificant. Today she is the second largest cotton producing state, and cotton is now California's richest crop!

In population, too, California is well on her way toward the top, what with the westward tide of humanity continuing to roll. This influx of newcomers has provided much skilled manpower for our expanding industries. In finance, the State has long claimed the world's largest bank which serves more depositors than the several next largest banks in New York put together. This great financial strength has been a vital factor in the development of California industry and agriculture.

The story of California—the great things its people have done, the greater things they aim to do—is being told in Sacramento.

Be there—and burst a few buttons of your own.

The Cost Of Indifference

Nobody is indifferent to high taxes. That's obvious in the fact that everybody bellyaches about them.

But high taxes go on—and keep getting higher. Why? Because most of us are indifferent to the corrective measures necessary to cut down waste and extravagance in government. It's easier to bellyache than to take action.

How many people have ever written their congressmen to urge economy in government? (How many people even know the name of their congressmen?) How many people have even the vaguest notion how much is being spent in Washington and what for? In each case, the answer is, very few.

Writing a congressman requires some effort. Finding out his name takes some effort, too. Keeping posted on Washington affairs also demands a little effort. Yes, it's just easier to complain—but frightfully costly.

It is to be hoped that eventually the terrific burden of taxation will awaken the indifferent millions to the need for action. It could result in heavier registrations and larger turnouts at the polls. And that could result in better candidates and better, less costly, government.

To those who would like to DO something about ever-mounting taxes, we suggest that you register at once (September 11 is the deadline) and then vote in November. In the meantime, study the candidates and issues not only nationally but in state and local contests.

This will take a little time. But in the long run it will mean money in your pocket and satisfaction in your heart—and a better America for everyone.

Two Local Registrars Remain Open County Clerk Urges Large Turnout

"Register now if you are a new resident of the county or re-register if you have moved within the county should you desire to vote at the November election," warned County Clerk John A. Bruning today.

Registration qualifications are one year's residence in the state and 90 days in the county prior to the day of the election.

Largest Percentage

"State records indicate that the people of San Mateo county enjoy the privilege of voting. This county was second among the ten largest counties of the state in the percentage of votes cast as compared to the number of registered voters at the recent primary election," said Bruning.

Every convenience is offered to permit residents to register. Registrations will be taken during office hours by all the City Clerks' offices throughout the county and by over 150 registration deputies located conveninently in the various areas of the county.

In addition, registration deputies will be on duty at the time indicated at the following locations to accommodate those persons who are unable to register during normal business hours.

Late Registration In D. C.

Callan Realty Company, 2790 Junipero Serra boulevard, September 10-11, to 10 p.m. Ernest E. DaRoza, 5 Wellington avenue, September 8-10-11, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Voting is the means of directing our elective officials on governmental policies be they national, state or local. The preservation of government of the people, by the people and for the people depends upon the mandates to elective officials expressed at the polls.

"Register at once if you are eligible to do so and re-register if necessary. You will then be eligible to vote and express your opinions in November," advised Bruning. Remember—September 11th is the final date for registering.

Lions Fully Behind Parking Meter "Feeding" Plan

Determined to find a solution to what they believe is parking meter discrimination, Daly City Lions this week were prepared to wage a long battle for a plan to have police officers feed meters for tardy parkers.

The city council will hand down a decision on the proposed plan next week, but all indications are it will be negative.

Lions, who make up most of Daly City's businessmen on Mission street, wish to furnish police with nickels for meters. The officers, upon the first violation, would drop in a nickel for the driver, and put an envelope asking the nickel's return under the windshield wiper. A second time around, and the violator gets a ticket.

Such a system the Lions believe would give them a "fighting chance" against large shopping centers where there is plenty of free parking.

On the other hand, Mayor Paul Green has expressed doubt if it is the duty of police to "baby-sit" for parking meters.

Taggart Condemns His Opponent's "Negative" Stand

Condemnation of his opponent's policy of negative criticism and total failure to act in support of the Pillar Point Breakwater and the Federal Building for San Mateo county was voiced today by Harold F. Taggart, Democratic nominee for Congress from this county.

"My banker opponent from San Francisco has been so busy denouncing Democrats that he has not yet taken one positive step in these two projects," declared Taggart.

"I have, however, offered my personal assistance," said Taggart, "to the Chamber of Commerce and to the Half Moon Bay Harbor Association in furthering their efforts.

"I have also successfully sponsored resolutions urging immediate action," he added, "before the Democratic County, State and National Committees. I am continuing my efforts through incumbent California Congressmen.

"I suggest that my opponent reserve some of the energy now being wasted in bombastic statements for helpful and affirmative efforts. His ineptitude and omission in this regard belie his professional interest."

The Kingsley Dam on the North Platte River in Nebraska is 162 feet high and has a capacity of 2,000,000 acre feet.

While giant sequoia, Sequoia gigantea, attains a large girth, the Sequoia sempervirem, its cousin, grows taller.

Westlake Fence Champion Finally Decides To Comply

There is one less fence over five feet in Westlake today, and in that can be found a success for the Westlake Property Owners Association.

Early this week Gibson Burke, 190 Westlawn, took down his high fence just days before he was to appear in San Mateo county superior court to answer charges pressed by the association. The association claims the by-laws prohibit high fences. Burke refused to go along but, threatened with possible legal action, Burke removed the fence.

Still unconvinced of the association's power is another man with a high fence, Wesley Prather, 15 Belmont drive. Prather is determined to fight it out, and is slated to appear in court September 12.

George Pingry, association president, appeared optimistic today as to the final outcome of these and 13 other cases.

"I believe these residents are beginning to understand we are merely working for them, not against them. And I am sure everything will be settled shortly."

Meanwhile, at the board of directors meeting Tuesday evening, action was taken to:

1. Increase the number of board members from five to nine. Pingry explains this will give more residents in newer sections a bigger voice on the board.

2. Call for bids for 300 new trees to replace those in front of homes which have failed to do anything but look sickly.

3. Appoint Linwood E. Frates, 248 Westbrook avenue, to fill the unexpired term of Frank Taylor on the board of directors. Taylor has moved to San Carlos.

Attempt Stick-Up At Local Market

Joseph Fresenberg, owner of the Budget Savings Market, 6386 Mission street, reported to Daly City police an attempted stick-up of his store last Friday afternoon.

According to the police, two suspects entered the store at about 3:50 p. m., ordered and drank a bottle of pop apiece. Then one of them approached Frank Garin, clerk, 99 Bellevue avenue, who was in the rear of the store stacking shelves.

He said to Garin: "This is a stick-up!" and pushed him at gun point down a basement stairs, locking the basement door on him.

At the same time, his companion tried to force the cash register. Failing in this, the pair fled.

Keith Gardner . . . OFF THE RECORD

I sing the praises of publicity men, those wondrous characters, for instance, who dream up the quotes that empty-headed movie queens bedazzle us with daily. The stout hearts who concoct of blood, sweat and coffee the gems of wit and erudition that are spouted by politicians and other great people.

Too long, friends, have we labored under the delusion that something separates us mere mortals from the famous, the fabulous, the select few. Much too long have we deceived ourselves that some strange quality of mind unknown to us brings forth those quotable quotes on the lips of the great.

The Truth Revealed

The plain fact of the matter I shall now reveal. Them schlemiels is just as dumb as you an' me, friend; the only difference lies in that we got no publicity men behind us.

There is nothing quite so apt to produce the aurora of greatness around a man as a staff of hard working PR agents to do his thinking for him. Sad though it be to tell, the average politician, be he ward-heeler or Senator, would not last ten minutes if required to pass a ten-year-old's IQ test.

Mental Diamond

But put this mentally petrified character before a microphone, place in his hands a sheaf of notes prepared by an intelligent, well-educated group of hard-working press agents, and he can shine like an intellectual diamond for the requisite period of time before the commercial.

I have no particular objection to this as speeches are apt to be pretty dull as they are, and a speech written by the deliverer himself would be more than a normal man could bear without something to settle his stomach. But let us call a spade a shovel.

Ditto

And the gems of sly humor dropped casually (at press conferences only) by movie queens—well, you know, same deal as before.

Now the point of all this is not necessarily to illustrate the existing evil, but to demand that something be done about it. Why, after all, should be get our information and entertainment second hand from some birdbrain political hack or empty-skulled Hollywoodite?

Leave us now unite to bring to the fore those sterling men of true quality who have been overlong masked by anonymity. Conceive if you can what a simplification this would mean.

Smart Boys

The joke-tellers will be replaced by the smart boys in the background who know Joe Miller's complete works by heart. The Congress will be shipped off to Alcatraz (where many of its members rightly belong) and in their place we will have the Professional Gag-Writers Association. And unknown men who have starved to produce deathless prose for the political pundits will take over the management of our nation.

No other step would bring, I think, such an increase in public participation in the democracy. Instead of the usual, dull and unexciting business of the city council, we would have talented gag-writers putting on a variety act. This would not accomplish much civic business, but neither does the ordinary-type council.

Black-face

With the council in blackface and the mayor as interlocutor, we could have old-time minstrel shows in place of the same old diet of resolutions, proposals, etc.

And all the material would be high-quality stuff, delivered by experts. I move we put it on the ballot next November 4.

Ridgely Cummings . . . HÓLLYWOOD

If the moon is really made of green cheese then the directors of Griffith Observatory, a scientific showplace on top of a mountain peak overlooking Los Angeles, are to be severely reprimanded. For they failed to mention it in the course of a conducted tour of our satellite.

We, a generic term which includes a couple of wide-eyed small fry, made the trip seated in reclining chairs in the observatory planetarium, our heads resting in contraptions something like those put on the rim of barber chairs and intended for comfortable relaxation while being shaved.

Bowl of the Sky

One of the small fry was too little to reach the contraption with his head. When the music began, in a wierd minor key to imitate what one supposes is the sound of spheres wandering through illimitable outer space, he climbed up into his mother's lap. Snug there he stared at the bowl of the sky.

The city's skyline was silhouetted against the glare of the setting sun. The lights dimmed and the stars emerged and twinkled. The smaller small fry, Conrad by name, commented only that it was getting dark. Then the music faded away and there was silence.

Rising Moon

From a concealed loud speaker up in the center of the dome a solemn voice intoned: "The sun has set in splendor and now we see the rising moon."

Conrad wriggled on his mother's lap, turned to me and remarked in a penetrating treble: "That must be God talking."

I assurred him in a whisper that it wasn't but a ripple of laughter coursed through the audience and the damage was done. The astronomer who was acting as commentator cleared his throat and started over. "The sun has set in splendor and now we see the rising moon."

One Side

Mark, who is two years older than his brother, remarked audibly, "One side of the moon is always dark and cold."

Although somewhat proud of this display of erudition on the part of a six-year old, I whispered sternly, "Shhhh, they'll throw us out." And well they might have too, for at the cashier's window where I bought the tickets there had been a sign plainly warning parents that children under five could not be taken into the planetarium. I had the guilty conscience of a willful lawbreaker.

Nuggets of Information

Thereafter Mark kept his voice down but occasionally he imparted to me nuggets of information a few steps ahead of the commentator. Children who nowadays are brought up on television space operas have an astronomical advantage over their elders.

During the next few minutes the voice in the ceiling discoursed on distances, comparative sizes and light years in figures of such magnitude that we began to feel very small sitting in our barber shop seats. Meanwhile the stars revolved slowly over our heads.

Equator Best

"The best spot for a take-off to the moon would be from the equator," the voice told us. "We are now at 39 degrees north latitude. Watch the pole star as it dips toward the horizon. We are travelling south. There's the Southern Cross coming up. And here we are at the equator."

The skyline had changed. Instead of the monolithic tower of the Los Angeles City Hall and other metropolitan landmarks, we saw waving palm trees all around the horizon.

Big Window

We entered a space ship, which blotted out most of the stars, and we saw the outline of an observation turret on the dome overhead. Through the turret window, 25 feet in diameter, we saw a section of the sky, the moon and a few stars.

There came a babble of voices over the speaker, then silence, then a voice counting backward, "Five, four, three, two, one—" and then the muffled blast of an explosion outside, followed by whirring, whizzing, jarring noises. We were on our way.

Through the huge window overhead the moon gradually grew larger and larger, finally filling the entire aperature with a nearness that made Mark reach for my hand while Conrad decided to boycott the proceedings and burried his head on his mother's breast.

Hot There, Too

What we were seeing was a series of enlarged lunar photographs projected on the ceiling. When they had reached the maximum size, so that only a small portion of the moon's surface, highly magnified, was visible through the window, we started to travel over the surface of the moon, examining the various craters and mountains and being filled in with such details as the lack of atmosphere, the smaller gravitational pull and the terrific temperature changes during a lunar day.

Then we landed, figuratively, in a crater named Copernicus, 56 miles in diameter, and got out of the space shin. Our horizon now consisted of blownup reproductions of the crater walls but the effect was not too realistic and this part of the show was abbreviated, as if the astronomers in charge realized ADD—CUMMINGS— ..... the tentative nature of their conjectures.

Down To Earth

Back in the space ship we started off toward the earth and watched it grow and grow in the sky as we came closer. The configuration of our planet and its salient geographic features was an old story, even to the children. Soon we landed back in the tropics and made the journey north to the latitude of Los Angeles.

It was still night and the music started again as we waited for the sunrise. It came sure enough in a glow of gold and scarlet and we were back on a mountain top in Griffith Park, with no other effects from our journey than slightly stiff necks and an appreciation of the immensity of our world and a reaffirmed knowledge that our own universe is only one of thousands.

Real McCoy

Later on in the evening, after the children had pressed buttons to activate the mechanical wonders in the hall of science, we went up on the roof and stood in line to look through the 12-inch refracting telescope at the real moon.

It was an impressive sight but less so than the planetarium show and Conrad's verdict was, "I want a choc'late soda."

In the drugstore we gave our orders to a harassed clerk and during the ensuing wait Conrad once more climbed into his mother's lap.

"Your mother's tired. Why don't you sit on the stool?" I said.

"I like it here," he replied. "It's magic."

"What do you mean, magic?"

"Just magic," he said with finality.

And so it was. There had been magic in our journey by means of the Zeiss projector and some $15,000 worth of gadgets. But there was greater and more lasting magic in the protective hollow formed by a living feminine body.

Appoint Publisher County Campaign Chm. For Ike-Nixon

Eisenhower-Nixon campaign in San Mateo county moved into high gear this week with the announcement by county chairman L. Herbert Harris that Wilbur A. Bishop, San Carlos, will be county campaign director for all Eisenhower-Nixon campaign operations.

Bishop will handle public relations and campaign direction for all Eisenhower-Nixon county headquarters, Citizen's for Eisenhower and Nixon, and the Republican Central Committee during the presidential campaign.

Former Publisher

A former publisher of the San Carlos Enquirer, Bishop most recently completed the direction of the successful campaign of Thomas J. Callan for San Mateo county supervisor last June. In 1950 he managed Earl B. Whitmore's campaign for San Mateo county sheriff.

Bishop is a partner in Bishnel Enterprises, a San Mateo county advertising and public relations firm. Albert D. Nelson, former owner of the San Bruno Herald, is his partner. Bishnel Enterprises owns the Kelso, Washington newspaper which Bishop has edited and published the past year and a half.

Harris pointed out that Bishop's work has already begun and that Eisenhower-Nixon headquarters are being opened in many cities of the county. Already open are headquarters in South San Francisco, San Bruno, Redwood City, Menlo Park and the main headquarters in San Mateo at 45 North B street.

Want A Change

"San Mateo county voters gave a clearcut indication that they wanted a change in national administration four years ago, I am sure their desires will be expressed in even a greater majority for Eisenhower and Nixon in November of this year," Bishop said.

"It will be necessary for everyone who realizes the dangers that face this country under the present administration to get out and work in San Mateo county to give Ike and Nixon a huge majority that will counterbalance areas of California that may not give Eisenhower a majority," Bishop added.

Dove hunting should be excellent in the Kings County area when the season opens there September 1, reports the National Automobile Club.

Sport, a dog of indeterminate descent owned by twelve-year-old Barbara Hartwell, caused quite a stir the other day when he suddenly jumped into a rabbit hutch in the back yard, and, of all things, started to eat not the two rabbits huddled there, but their alfalfa pellets! T. M. McINTYRE, Veterinarian, whose pet hospital is located at 1938 Junipero Serra Blvd. (call PLaza 5-0969) had this to say about the phenomenon:

"Most dogs like to chew grass, and rabbit pellets are composed of alfalfa and grains. Really, they aren't too dissimilar to many of the dog biscuits in composition so don't be surprised because he has a taste for the things." Too late, Dr. McIntyre! We have already been surprised—and what do we do for rabbits suffering from shock?

A good time to have your eyes checked is now—and why not do it without the fuss of downtown appointments, the headache of snafu transportation? DR. LOUIS MINKIN, Optometrist, is highly qualified to check and prescribe for your eyes and fit them for glasses. His office is in Westlake's shopping arcade and is open Friday evenings until nine p.m. Evening appointments for other days may be made by calling Dr. Minkin at PLaza 5-5434!

MOSHER'S SHOE STORE, newest of the Westlake shops, will not get delivery on its Merry-go-Round for another week or so, but believe me they certainly have a marvelous stock of stylish and reasonably priced shoes! Most impresisve, bargain wise, are the "Scamperoo" models, most of which are one-strap "flats" with chemical composition soles selling for only $4.95! These come in a variety of styles and colors (some of suede with leather "bumpers") and are perfect for school or dress. They are lined and the leather used is soft, pliable calfskin—beautifully bound! These shoes, I repeat, are bargains and compare more than favorable with similar styles found downtown for $7.95! Try MOSHER'S shoes for the whole family!

Jack and Doug Shaw, whose three SHAW'S confectionary stores (West Portal, Millbrae and Broadmoor) attract all lovers of fine candies and ice cream, are now offering a new low-butterfat ice cream for people who have to watch their calories. Coming in two flavors, vanilla and chocolate, this new ice cream (and the Shaws wish to stress the fact that it is ice cream—not ice milk) will sell only in half gallons, and for only 90c. This is what SHAW'S uses for those creamy-rich milk shakes, and this is what you'll be using for a take home dessert to please the whole family! Buy one today and put the carton on your scales! You'll be pleased to find they read well over three pounds—and for only 90c.

Fun fare of the week are those letters Ed Nenstiel has been receiving from the Camel Sewing Machine Company—a Japanese concern concerned with bringing a fine sewing machine to the benighted women of Daly City. Envelopes bear the following address:

Messers Daly City Hardware
ju-niper 47442
25, California, U.S.A.

And, if you want to know how to go about "requesting" a lever—just ask Ed to give you a look!

Seems the only golf balls available around Daly City are to be found in MILLER'S VARIETY STORE in Westlake. Mr. Miller has them in soft rubber at 10c apiece—for children. After checking the various hardware stores, drug stores, etc.—we found the reason! Golfers, and the town is full of them, seem to do their golf ball buying at the club houses or in downtown sporting goods stores, which means local merchants can't afford to stock them! Remember this next time you hear or have a "beef" about your local merchants! They are just exactly what you make them.

GLEASON'S DRESS SHOP, on Top of the Hill at 6335 Mission St., is swinging into fall with some of the sauciest wool jersey dresses imaginable. One Jonathan Logan number in shades of gray had us clouding up the shop's window in an effort to get a better look, and after going inside we found the dress (and price) were just what we'd been looking for! These Jonathan Logan juniors (sizes 9-15) range in price from $13.95-$18.95, and for such beautifully finished and styled dresses, that's cheap! And on hand here are Lady Alice wool jerseys in sizes 16-22 for $16.95-$19.95! These come in three styles specially designed for the larger figure and former buyers of Lady Alice frocks will rush to GLEASON'S for first choices!

"So many women are 'laying low' until closer to the holiday season before buying their fall and winter clothes," says Helen Sheehy, store owner, "but I certainly hope they will stop 'laying low' and use our 'Lay-Away' plan instead! We have some beautiful velveteen dresses in stock right now—and also those holiday 'musts'—two-piece faille suits, but it's first come, first served! If you see the dress you want—don't wait! Have it put away now—and have it for your own at Thanksgiving and Christmas time."

ENGINE OVERHEATING

A partially clogged radiator or defective thermostat may cause your automobile's engine to overheat, according to the California State Automobile Association. Correct engine temperature is necessary for maximum operating efficiency. It is important to have the entire cooling system of your car checked regularly.

ENGINE TUNING

A regular engine tune-up for your automobile is a real economy measure, according to the California State Automobile Association. Even cleaning and adjusting the spark plugs has resulted in as much as a 10 per cent increase in fuel economy in extreme cases; and other adjustments aid proportionately.

GENIAL GENTLEMEN OF GEROLD'S LIQUORS are, left to right: Herb Bethe and Bob White, son-in-law and father-in-law respectively. During the past three years, and for many years to come, the two will be serving the liquor needs of the community.

National Magazine Features County Blood Bank's Role

Under the caption of "California's Blood Brotherhood" the August issue of Reader's Digest gives prominent mention to the San Mateo County Blood Bank.

In the article, condensed from "Today's Health" magazine, it is set forth the "Loss of blood is a major cause of death in accidents, wounds, childbirth and certain operations. Transfusions can often save our lives, if the right kind of blood is at hand. But transfusions, in most hospitals, are expensive. What can be done to make certain that enough of the right type of blood is always ready and within every patient's means?"

This question in the article is answered with: "California's doctors have the answer. Citizens have formed a blood brotherhood, a statewide chain of community blood banks, sponsored by the California Medical Association. Begun six years ago, this system now has blood on tap, day and night, for 10 million people in 40 California counties. All banks are self-supporting in both blood and money"

The article in simple dramatic terms, gives a portion of the story behind the founding of the San Mateo County Blood Bank. It tells of a workman hemorraghing in San Mateo and of his being saved by blood rushed from the Irwin Blood Bank in San Francisco.

This brought for the question in the minds of San Mateo union leaders, U. S. Simonds, the then representative of the carpenter's union; Albert Randall of the plumber's union; Richard McAlister of central labor council; Jack Crown of the electrician's union; Thomas Small of the central labor council, as to why one could not be started here. The union men went to Dr. Carl L. Hoag who stirred up interest among his associates in the County Medical Society, as well as the citizens of San Mateo County.

They Gave

Then 5000 citizens gave a total of $30,000. Workmen, of various unions built the bank, labor free. Businessmen gave refrigerators, materials, etc. Volunteers gave hundreds of hours of free time as hostesses, typists, telephone operators, aides and file clerks. In three months San Mateo citizens were giving blood, cosaving life with their doctors.

Since that memorable day of May 22, 1942, when the unions, doctors, church, fraternal and civic groups saw fruition of their dream of a blood bank come true in San Mateo, close to 26,000 individual donors have registered at the bank. Over 250 organizations have credit blood pools there, where blood is available day or night, on demand for emergency transfusions. Among the 250 organizations are many union groups.

The Digest article relates how "All of California's community banks provide doctors of the state with 120,000 pints of blood yearly for civilian use, in addition to this they have also provided 275,000 pints for defense, which amounts to 62 per cent of all the blood provided by independent blood banks in the United States."

Founder

It also tells that "Under the sponsorship of the California Medical Association's Blood Bank Commission, of which Dr. Upton, (Dr. John R. Upton of San Francisco, founder of the state blood bank system) is chairman, the community banks are now united in a remarkable state-wide life line. Its center is in San Francisco. Here, the system's voluntary administrative assistant and her staff keep track day by day of the flow of blood into and out of California's Community blood banks, including the three regional Red Cross Blood centers."

OPS SHRINKS SAFEWAY PROFITS DESPITE SALES

Lingan A. Warren, president of Safeway Stores, in his semi-annual report released today told stockholders that discriminatory O.P.S. ceilings had seriously effected company profits for the first 24 weeks of 1952, despite the largest sales in history.

Profits were also seriously effected by the prolonged slowdown and later shut-down of the company's distribution center at Kearney, New Jersey, according to Warren.

"This dispute was the work of a small group of radical members of the local union and was without sanction of the parent union organization."

Warren expressed confidence that profits would improve during the remainder of 1952.

"This confidence is based on our constantly increasing sales with expenses gradually finding a fixed level," he said. "The recent changes in the Defense Production Act, which will allow food stores a more reasonable profit margin on items which represent about one-third of our dollar sales, will also benefit our profit picture."

Warren also announced that the stepped-up construction and modernization program carried on by Safeway during 1951 and early 1952 has been concluded. "The construction of new stores and other facilities and modernization of existing stores will now proceed at a more normal rate," he said.

Safeway completed construction of 49 modern retail store buildings during the first 24 weeks of 1952 and had 35 additional retail buildings under construction on June 4, 1952.

Korean Vets Fail To Properly File For Separation Pay

The armed services are returning many applications for post-Korea mustering out pay because veterans don't send in their Report of Separation, Form DD 214, along with their claims for the cash payments, Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer of San Mateo County, said today.

He emphasized that the veteran's separation report must accompany all applications for mustering out payments authorized for Korean veterans by the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952—the new "GI Bill."

Korea veterans who do not have For 214 were advised to apply at once to their branch of service for a certified copy. The form, Granger explained, is essential in filing for Veterans Administration loan guarantees under the new law, in addition to claiming mustering out pay.

Ex-servicemen and women can obtain full assistance at the Veterans Service Office, 517 Marshall Street, Redwood City (directly in back of the courthouse) in applying to the armed services for duplicate copies of their separation reports. Granger said forms are also available there for the mustering out payments.

The service officer listed these armed service offices as the ones to which veterans should write for replacement copies of DD 214 if they are unable to come to his office:

San Franciscans Get Fluoridated Water

About 70 per cent of San Franciscans were drinking fluoride-treated water this week, although none noted any difference in its taste.

The fluoridation program, voted last November, began last week when sodium-silico fluoride—13 pounds to each 1,000,000 gallons of water—was added to the supply at the San Andreas reservoir near Millbrae to inaugurate a campaign against tooth decay.

Dentists and health authorities claim the fluoridated water will help reduce decay in children's teeth up to 60 to 75 per cent.

Costly and unnecessary tire wear can be avoided by having the wheel alignment of your automobile checked regularly and corrected when misalignment is noted, advises the California State Automobile Association.

Little Theatre Play Announced

Sir George Etherege is the author of "The Man of Mode," which Peninsula Little Theatre of the San Mateo Junior College Adult Center presents September 12, 13, 19, 20, 26 & 27 as the first play in the 1952-1952 season.

Etherege (1634-1691) courtier, diplomat, rake, and wit, is the real inventor of the comedy of manners, for Wilde, Shaw, Philip Barry, and Noel Coward all derive from the early Restoration dramatist.

Etherege frequented the gay court of Charles II, was a rake among rakes, and depicted the life he knew. Moving in a world where moralit yand sentiment found no place, he painted a picture frankly and brilliantly of life as he saw it.

His earlier commedies, "She Would If She Could," and "Love In A Tub," were followed by his masterpiece, "The Man of Mode," which is a vivid picture of the life of his day. The central character of the witty Dorimant is believed to have been a portrait of the notorious Earl of Rochester. Wallis Wenner, remembered for his portrayal as the lawyer Ed Devery in last spring's presentation of "Born Yesterday," plays the role of Dorimant in PLT's production.

CRANKCASE VENTILATION

Gasoline and water vapors which form in the crankcase of every automobile are normally expelled through the "breather" or crankcase ventilator. If these vapors are allowed to condense in the crankcase due to a clogged ventilator they may form acid compounds which damage the internal surfaces of an automobile engine, says the California State Automobile Association.

Club RaJax Offers Dixieland For Jazz Addicts Nightly

The new Club Rajax, in Millbrae, across the street from the Millbrae theater, derived its interesting name by taking the first two letters of the owner's and manager's first names and adding the letter "X."

Ray Davis is the owner; Jack Bramy is manager.

Their policy, to establish the new nitery as the "Peninsula Headquarters for Dixieland," and dancing, every night of the week except Tuesday, has caught on in a big way. Every night the popular club is really jumping to the music of Dick Oxtot and his All Star Jazz Band.

Each member of the band is a recording star in his own right and is featured on records with many of the top names in jazz.

The bride was the former Jean Crissman of Durham, North Carolina. The Reverend R. C. Mooney, Jr., officiated.

The almost-23 Marine, a veteran of Korea, the Mediterannean theater and the Greek Civil war, attended Woodrow Wilson and OLPH schools during his younger years. He is currently stationed in Washington as part of the Marine Dress Parade unit formed as a guard of honor for visiting dignitaries there.

His father, W. H. Shipman, resides in Atlanta, Ga. His mother, Mrs. Harold, has lived in Daly City for the past 13 years.

Jack enlisted in the Marine Corps at the age of eighteen years and was on his way home on furlough when the Korean war began. Caught in the Chosen Reservoir trap, he escaped with only a handful of other men in his company.

The bride was an employee of the Internal Revenue Bureau in Washington. The couple planned to honeymoon in the mountains of western North Carolina and Tennessee.

Original Gown

The bride wore an original gown of white chantilly lace, ballerina length and fashioned with a strapless bodice and a bolero jacket scalloped to form a standing collar to frame the face. The full bouffant skirt was worn over a crinoline with scalloped hemline. Her shoulder length veil of French nylon illusion fell from a cloche of matching lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of starlight roses, carnations and stephanotis centered with gardenias.

The altar of the church was decorated with standards of white bridal flowers, California tree fern and plumoses with woodwardia fern. The setting was illuminated by cathedral candles in seven branched candleabra. Pews were decorated at intervals with single candleabra holding lighted tapers. Bows of maline and satin completed the decorations.

A reception was held after the vening ceremony at the bride's home.

The couple will live at 4725 First avenue, S. W. Washington, D.C.

RECENTLY WED IN WASHINGTON, D. C., Staff Sergeant Jack L. Peninsula Home Show Will Open Friday, September 13, At Fiesta Bldg.

Hammers and paint brushes were busy this week at the Fiesta Bldg., San Mateo, preparing for the opening of the Peninsula Home Show next Friday, Sept. 13.

The interior of the big building was being filled with elaborate and colorful settings to display the latest in indoor and outdoor living ideas.

Providing the centerpiece of this year's home show Hawaiian theme will be an authentic "lanai" which is the island term for patio. This tropical setting will be complete with live monkey and birds. South sea delicacies will be prepared and served here each day.

Of special interest to peninsula residents will be the daily new home products presentation from the indoor home show stage. Hundreds of the latest developments in home appliances and gadgets will be displayed.

Joseph Schulte, manager of the show, which is sponsored by the Peninsula General Contractors and Builders Assn., said that because the show is regarded as a "family affair" the admission price has been reduced to 50 cents for adults with youngsters accompanied by parents free. There will also be lots of free parking space, Schulte said.

Among the interesting items to be shown at the nine-day event is the fabulous $150,000 "Star of Hawaii" diamond. Originally owned by an Hawaiian queen, the dazzling 42-carat canary colored gem will be placed on view an hour in the afternoon and an hour in the evening.

Ancient washing machines, refrigerators, plumbing devices and radios will lend contrast to the modern streamline home appliances shown by exhibitors at the show. The old time items have been collected by a San Jose man as a hobby. He is bringing more than 20 of them to this year's show.

Show hours are from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Summer Recreation

Marchbanks Playground

By Leslie Linhares and Frank Ingersoll
Playground Directors

The Sixth Annual Amateur Show of the Recreation department blossomed forth with here-to-for hidden talent. Some of the contestants had backed out at the last minute but those who knew "the show must go on" came through with flying colors.

Marchbanks contribution to this entertainment was twofold. Henri Oliver played two selections on his accordion well enough to merit first place in the instrumental division. Our second offering was a so-called fashion show. Ronnie Rose, clad in black smock, French beret and mustache, posed as a French Fashion expert.

He had zee task of announcing zee "glamorous models." After a brief introduction the six luscious bits of femininity slithered out. High heels, nylons, hats, formals and dresses of all descriptions adorned these lovely ladies.

Wearing such creations as "Blue Mist," "Pink Champagne" and "Apple Blossom Time" our models were Bob Garner, Joe and Anthony Stagnaro, Ricky Craig, Vicky Lewkowitz and Billy Savage at first stunned the audience.

However, when they were recognized a gale of laughter seized the crowd. But the models, "true to their profession" remained calm and indifferent. Their performance was liked so well that they were voted first place winners. The "models" went home $2.00 richer and with the cheers of the audience in their ears. Congratulations to some good sports.

Marshmallow Roast

Old Mister Sun has rescued many fog-bound Daly City residents. These sunny days the park is crowded with oldsters and youngsters alike.

Several mothers have feasted their chilk with a birthday party at the Park. All of this very welcome and enjoyable but it also presents a problem. The partiers and picnickers left quite a few of their papers around so the park wasn't "quite neat."

The situation had to be remedied. Friday was decided upon as "Clean-Up Day." But this was no ordinary work project. Directors and youngsters alike joined in. The bargain became—anyone who picks up 10 or more papers is entitled to be in on the Marshmallow roast.

In no time at all the word was spread. Papers and other trash disappeared as eager hands searched them out. Soon the eyesore which had marred the view were removed and Bobby Claus, Billy Kane, Dedee and Larry Scott, Sharon and Sue Lynch and Carole Cunningham to mention a few were devouring roasted marshmallows.

Which all goes to prove work can be fun if everyone does it together.

Girl of the Week

The choice of the final girl of the week falls on five-year-old Kathleen McKeever. This young lady possesses many sterling qualities and has potentials of many more. Although Kathy is young in years and small in size, she has a generous nature and a willing hand.

Whenever Kathy is given any choice morsel she will be seen offering some to all her friends at the Park. This blue-eyed tow head also helps to keep the park clean. Kathy, too, is very useful to her mother.

She takes excellent care of her little brother, Danny, age 4, and sister, Sharon, age 2½. We at the park are sure Kathy will be "great" in anything she undertakes as a grown-up.

Bouquets and "Adieus"

This is the last week of a summer recreation and time for "be seeing you's." We directors have enjoyed working at Marchbanks with the fine children and under such a wonderful leader as Mr. Rose. This was not only a job but a pleasure and made so by the cooperation of all our new found friends.

It would be impossible to mention all their names but be assured they will be well remembered. We hope that all the kids will recall with pleasure all the good times we had during summer. We wish them all good luck in their studies and hope to see them again. Until that time goodbye and thank you.

"Back To School"

"Back to School" was the theme of the recent picnic and weiner roast held at Marchbanks last Thursday, August 28. One hundred and fifty youngsters from Lincoln, Edgewood and Marchbanks playgrounds attended the program which was the last event of the summer schedule.

The kids as usual brought their ravenous apetites with them as 200 hot dogs, 300 bottles of pop and 10 watermelons were consumed with amazing rapidity.

Feature attraction of the day (besides the hot dogs, that is) was the boxing matches in which the Marchbanks gladiators battled the fine leather slingers from Lincoln.

The Marchbanks warriors swept the team title with 6 victories, one loss and a draw. The matches figured to be extremely close but upset victories by Ronnie Rose and Bobby Rasmussen were responsible for the lopsided score.

In one of the most exciting matches of the day, Coach Leo Selmi of Lincoln pitted his 10-year-old star Billy Khinoo against Marchbanks Ronnie Rose. Hard hitting Billy who was a TKO victor in the recent city-wide boxing tournament figured to be too strong for the Marchbanks boxer.

Khinoo stunned Ronnie with the first blow of the fight, a wicked straight left. The aggressive Billy followed up his advantage with two more lefts and a hard right hook as Ronnie attempted the first minutes of the opening round with Billy scoring heavily to the head. In the final 30 seconds Ronnie found the range and countered Billy's powerful swings with a stiff left jab.

Bewildered Billy

With 15 seconds remaining in the round a series of jabs left Billy bewildered. Ronnie sized up the situation and poured left and rights into his dazed opponent until the bell rang.

Ronnie's attack was to much for Billy however, as he failed to answer the bell for the second, giving Ronnie a well-earned second round TKO.

In the feature match of the day a couple of 110 pounders, Danny Curtain of Lincoln and Danny Rasmussen battled to a furious 3-round draw. Rasmussen's fine left jab was offset by Curtain's charging bull like tactics.

Results of the Marchbanks-Lincoln matches are as follows:

Ronnie Rose (M) TKO'd Billy Khinoo (L) (2).
Henri Oliver (M) TKO'd Roger Soomann (L) (2).
Bobbie Rasmussen (M) Dec. Leroy Rodriquez (L) (3).
Charlie Cook (L) Dec. Rickey Craig (M) (3).
Anthony Kordulos (M) Dec. Allen Anthony (L) (3).
Gordon Tydingco (M) TKO'd Pat McClelland (L) (3).
Louie Moretton (M) TKO'd Mike Swartz (L) (3).
Danny Curtain (L) and Danny Rasmussen (M) drew (3).

Seven other unofficial matches in addition to the Marchbanks and Lincoln matches were also held. Results of these matches are as follows:

Richard Maklin (Edge) dec. Frank Sears (Edge) 3.
Danny Curtain (L) dec. Bob Finley (M) 3.
Mike Swartz (L) TKO'd Tony Montalbo (M) 2.
Mike Steele (M) dec. Johnny Pothema (M) 3.
Bill Ellis (Edge.) dec. Danny Craig (M) 3.
Jim Reeder (Edge) dec. Ronnie Sears (Edge) 3.
Darryl Cross (Edge) dec. David McKee (Edge) 3.

All boxers received free hot dogs, soda pop or watermelon as their prizes.

The four-hour program was enjoyed by all as a happy, tired, and well-fed bunch of youngsters left the playground at 3 p.m.

Boy of the Week

Henri Oliver has the distinction of being the last "Boy of the Week" at Marchbanks as the summer program comes to a close. Henri has attended the playground throughout the summer and has starred on both the junior baseball team and the boxing team. When it comes to lending a helping hand Henri is right there ready and able to assist. Congratulations, Henri, the honor is well deserved.

Lincoln Playground

Leo Selmi

Last Friday, August 22, Lincoln's young boxers made a splendid showing in the Recreation Department's annual boxing tournament. The tournament was held at Jefferson Union High School. Lincoln was well represented by seven young pugilists.

Lincoln's little George "Red" Gensel, 55 pounds of dynamite, started the day's festivities by earning a draw with Mike Kennedy of Jefferson. The fight was a "slam-bang" affair from start to finish.

The first round was a close affair with Kennedy having a slight edge. The second round followed the same pattern as the first with Kennedy again having a slight advantage. George came back in the third round with an aggressive two-fisted attack which had Kennedy reeling on the ropes.

His fine showing in the third round gave George a well-earned draw. This undoubtedly was one of the best fights of the day.

Lefty Expert

Displaying a teriffic left jab, Lincoln's Harvey Lamb decisioned Roger Soomann, also of Lincoln. Harvey's left jab and boxing know-how were just a little too much for Roger to overcome, Roger, however, came back in the last two rounds forcing Harvey to go all out. Roger's comeback was one of the highlights of the day.

Billy Khinoo and Don Sharp, both of Lincoln, gave the crowd many thrills before the fight was stopped in the second round. The first round was fairly close as Don forced Billy to extend himself.

Billy found the range in the second round as his powerful left and rights found their mark. As a result of this two-fisted attack Don was forced to withdraw with a cut lip and Billy was awarded a TKO win.

Lincoln's Mike Craven fought Louie Moretton of Marchbank almost to a standstill in the first round but withered under Louie's blistering two-handed attack, forcing the referee to halt the bout. Louie seemed to have a little too much experience for Mike, but gained many new friends by his courageous performance.

The final bout of the day saw Lincoln's Ray Bermudez fight Joe Stagnero to a draw in a torrid battle.

All in all, Lincoln's young boxers gave an outstanding account of themselves and should be congratulated for their fine showing.

Ping Pong

Two outdoor ping pong tables are now being erected at Lincoln Playground by the Recreation department and it will be completed sometime this week. Ping Pong has always been popular at Lincoln and the kids are anxiously awaiting their completion.

As soon as the tables are completed, Lincoln will hold its own ping pong tournament. The tournament will have three separate age groups. A large number of youngsters are expected to enter.

Picnic

Thursday, August 28, Lincoln will participate in the Back-To-School Picnic and Playday which will be held at Marchbanks playground. There will be an abundance of food and drinks, softball for the boys, kickball for the girls, relays and novelty games. The feature attraction will be a boxing tournament between Lincoln and Marchbanks.

Jefferson High Playground

By M. Erickson & R. Watso

This week brings to an end the summer recreation program. The Ping Pong ladder tournament finished with De Wayne Soares champion for the boys. After holding first place for a week, Vince Leonetti was defeated and finished third.

Benny Peralta was second with Al Figone and Ron Bourdon fourth and fifth.

Donna Shulda remained first in the girls ladder with Carol Glover, Joan Jobson and Jackie Baher finishing in that order.

The doubles pool tournament was won by Al Lagomarsino and George Rocchi, Vince Leonetti and Ron Anguello were second.

Picnic Group

A small group enjoyed the picnic and wiener roast at Marchbanks on Thursday.

And now it's time for the directors at the High School playground to thank the boys and girls for their fine cooperation in helping to make the summer a success and fun for all. We've enjoyed working with you this year and hope to see you all again.

Westlake Playground

By A. Bishop
Playground Director

One of the many enjoyable activities on the Westlake Playground has been baseball. Among those participating are Frank Peasley, David Dunbar, Vance Bianchi, Barry Beiner, Allan Hutchmacher, Ross Holmgrem, Steven Hopperman, Steve Collen.

Many of the children have been developing creative puppet shows. "Bow and Arrow" was recently given. The cast was: Announcer, Cheryl McKenney; Indian Chief, Pat Fitzsimmons; Young Girl, Maureen Fitzsimmons; Young Boy, Jeffery Tamber.

Another puppet show was "Capt. Jinks and the Sailor," with Captain Renie Bozzini and Sailor Lee Sterio.

On the last Thursday we had a Dress Up Day and party. Among the many guests present were Lee Sterio as a Spaniard, Leonard Jacobson as Abe Lincoln, Rodger Bernard as a Mexican, Bobby Ritchie as Donald Duck, Cynthia Trapani as a witch, and Richard McClain as a skeleton. Refreshments were served.

This is the first year there has been a supervised playground at Westlake sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department. August 22 was our last day.

Even though we have worked with sand dunes, caterpillars and steam rollers we have enjoyed the grand children at Westlake.

JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

(Eds. Note: This was held over one week due to space limitations.

Last week the boys and girls at the high school playground continued the tournament schedule. Tuesday the badminton tournament was held. Winners in the boy's class were Rich Watso, first place, and Stan Strikland, second place. Ron Bourson, Ron Joy, Dement. This week's program will include the badminton doubles tournament, a tennis tournament and Marchbanks-High School Pool tournament and shuffleboard tour-

SPORTS

THREE TEAMS TIED IN TEEN LEAGUE

AN EX-AIR FORCE MAN, Louis Martin will start his teaching career at Jefferson High by coaching the varsity baseball squad and assisting with frosh-soph football. He will also teach social studies and driver education, a new course at the school required for all seniors. A graduate of San Francisco State college, he was a student teacher at Jeff from February to June of this year.

Tigers Drop Caddies 18-7 To Make It Anyone's League; Playoff Today

The undefeated Caddy nine was just three outs away from the Teen Age League Championship last Tuesday on the Marchbanks diamond.

Boasting an apparently overwhelming lead of six runs going into the last inning the Caddies seemed a cinch for the title. But as the saying goes, "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley." Especially where a fighting outfit like the Marchbanks Tigers are concerned.

The highly favored Caddy team started out in impressive style as they scored twice in the opening frame on two hits, two walks, and an error. The Tigers came back to score one in their half of the third on Bob Bailey's long double to right center; but a four run outburst by the Caddies in the last of this inning, featuring the hitting of Armstrong, Plunkett and Gonzales painted a very dismal picture for the Tiger club.

In the fourth the Caddies tallied again to lead 7 to 1. The score remained the same throughout the fifth and sixth as neither team could score.

Plunkett Wild

In the seventh Caddy Pitcher Jim Plunkett, who had pitched masterful two hit ball, was besieged with wildness, walking the first three batters to face him. With three on and none down, Bill Sutter of the Tigers faced Plunkett and promptly laced a single to right.

This was just the beginning of a seventh inning marathon that wasn't to end until 17 (yes, 17) Tigers crossed the plate. During the wild frame 25 batters faced four Caddy pitchers. Player Manager Leon Edwards of the Caddies even pitched himself as he attempted to keep the Tiger bats in check.

But the fighting Tigers were not to be denied on this day and they walked off the field with a well earned 18 to 7 victory.

The Tiger victory against the previously undefeated Caddies now throws the league into a three way tie, necessitating a play off between the Caddies, Tigers and John Madden's Giants.

The first game of the play-off will take place today, Thursday, when the Caddies and Tigers vie once more. The winner will meet the strong Giant nine next Tuesday for the championship.

Rio Vista Water Carnival Slated For October 4-5

Rio Vista's famed Water Carnival and Bass Derby, recognized as one of the West's most outstanding events, will be staged October 4 and 5, according to announcement by George Gordon, Jr., chairman of a five-man board of governors.

Gordon pointed out that this year's show, as in the past, is a non-profit community event staged by Rio Vista to focus attention on the Sacramento Delta Region as an outstanding recreational center and sportsman's paradise.

Expect 30,000

The annual event has become increasingly popular with sportsmen and spectators and predictions are that more than 30,000 people will attend the two-day show.

Thousands of dollars in valuable gate prizes and valuable trophies will be awarded spectators and participants, said Gordan.

Application blanks are now being mailed out to fishermen and indications are that more than 7000 bass fishermen will compete in the giant fish derby.

Water Carnival

The Water Carnival, to be staged Sunday, October 5, will include expert water skiiers and aquatic stars from all parts of the Pacific Coast, chairman Gordon stated.

Other features of the community event will include a huge outdoor barbecue, street parade of decorated floats, queen contest, grand ball, football game, band concerts and general festivity.

Welcome Mat Is Out For Bear Hunters In Northern Counties

Bear hunters will find ranch gates on the latch, as well as the "welcome" mats out, in northern Mendocino and Humboldt counties this year because of bruin's depredations against trees and livestock, the State Department of Fish and Game reports.

Stockmen in the two counties are anxious to see a maximum bear kill this season because, they declare, bruin's bark-chewing activities kill percious redwood trees, and they also charge bears with predator attacks on sheep and cattle.

The coastal bear hunting season is now on, and the balance of the state opens September 20. Both seasons run concurrently until December 31. Hunters should get permission from landowners before trespassing.

Bag limit is two bears per season and they may be taken with fire-arms or bow and arrow only, until the trapping season begins November 16. Hunting hours are a half-hour before sunrise to a half-hour after sunset except between November 22 to December 1, when the northern counties will shoot from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Federal grazing areas contribute an important share to the nation's meat, wool and leather products.

"Meat Fishermen" Fined $50 Each; Take 272 Over Limit

Eleven San Joaquin county residents "meat fishing" for trout at Highland Lake in Alpine county recently paid fines of $50 each after they had taken a total of 437 fish—just 272 over the party's total legal limit.

The busy anglers were trailed for four days by state game wardens who made their arrests just as the party of 11 were breaking camp and preparing to take home their haul, snow-packed in four pickup trucks.

The 11 tried and fined by Judge John Love of Woodford, Alpine county, were Jerry Titus, George Koster, Leslie V. Koster, R. R. Strobel, LeRoy Daniels, Clarence Strobel, Harold Smith, E. Donald Marks, Billy J. Rabon, Elton A. Dietrich, all of Stockton, and John Brierley of Manteca.

They were cited by State Department of Fish and Game patrol captain Glenn Whitesell and wardens Al Doreo, Art Brown and Lem Garrett.

Pismo Clam Faces Extinction -- Report

William Lovern of Ocean Beach is waging a one-man battle to save the world-famous clam from extermination at the hands of careless clammers.

Tossing aside a clam under the legal five inches in diameter is like cutting down a cotton plant a foot high, he believes.

"In each case, you're destroying a valuable crop—only with cotton you can grow another plant in a year, and it takes five years to grow a five-inch clam."

Lovern points out when a clam less than five inches is taken, it should be buried in its own hole or returned to really deep water. When an undersize clam is tossed into shallow water, the waves wash it ashore and it dries out to become food for sea gulls.

The legal bag limit for Pismo clams was 200 a day in 1911 but today has been reduced to ten as a conservation measure. Lovern says if people aren't more careful in obeying the state conservation laws applying to clamming, the bag may soon be "zero."

Daly City Man's Car Is Favored In Oakland Race

When the Oakland Speedway next Sunday (September 14) hosts a 350-lap stock car race, the finest cars and drivers in the area will be competing — including San Franciscan Bob Kelleher driving a 1952 Plymouth sedan belonging to Frank Catahia, Daly City.

Catania's car will bear the No. 54, and is exepected to be one of the "hot shots" in the large field of crack cars. Drivers report that the car handles well, particularly on a long, serious grind such as the 350-lapper.

All the cars in the race will be family passenger models of 1949-52 vintage.

Entered will be Buicks, Cadillacs, Chryslers, Chevrolets, De Sotos, Dodges, Fordes, Henry J's, Hudsons, Kaiser-Frazers, Lincolns, Mercurys, Nashes, Oldsmobiles, Packards, Plymouths, Studebakers, Pontiacs and Willys.

Catch Tropical Fish Near Here

Fishing in San Diego Bay near the San Diego Yacht Club recently, Fred Bernardino, 1978 Frankfort street, caught a rare piscatorial visitor to San Diego waters. The fish was a bonefish, one of the scrappiest of all the smaller game fishes. Common to tropical waters, the bonefish is only infrequently caught here.

Mr. Bernardino has presented the fish to the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, where it has been placed in the study collection. The institution already owns another, mounted specimen, The 14-inch fish put up so strong a fight Mr. Bernardino thought he had hooked a shark.

The bonefish is only one of several tropical fishes being found near San Diego this summer, Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, professor of marine biology, says. The surface waters have been warmer than usual. The bonefish's fighting qualities were lauded by the late Zane Grey, author and fishing enthusiast, Dr. Hubbs says.

Duck Season Opens October 24; Limit Bag To Six Fowl

California's 1952 duck hunting season will begin Friday, October 24 and close Thursday, January 1, 1953, the State Fish and Game Commission announced this week.

Under a new policy tried by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service this year, each state was allowed to choose an opening date, provided that it not occur earlier than October 1, nor later than January 10. The Pacific Flyway States were given a choice of a 70-day straight season, or two 28-day split seasons.

Climate Problem

Faced with the problems of the state's varying climate, crop depredation and harvesting conditions, the California Commission carefully considered all views before making their decision. Rice growers, on whose lands many ducks are shot, requested a straight season to start not before November 1, and preferably as late as November 15.

Waterfowl hunters, represented by Statewide sportsmen's organizations generally wanted split seasons, the first to start about the middle of October and the second as late as possible.

In an effort to serve the whole state, the Commission chose the compromise dates of October 24 to January 1. The season—the same as Oregon's—should help solve boundary problems in the Tule Lake area.

Bag Limit Set

The bag limit has been set at six per day and six in possession (only one of which may be a wood duck). In addition, there may be two pintail or widgeon; or eight ducks in all may be bagged, if two are pintail (sprig) or widgeon.

The goose bag and possession limit is six; not more than two of which can be dark geese (varieties of Canada or speckle-bellies). There is an additional limit of three black sea brant.

LIFE OF TIRES

Scraping tires against the curb when parked is reported by the National Automobile Club to break down the side walls and lessen the life of the tires.

Improvement Group Plans Extension Of Their Boundaries

Plans to extend the boundaries of jurisdiction of the Edgewood Hillside Civic Improvement Association were laid at the group's last meeting, held in American Legion Hall, Daly City.

A motion by Kenneth Van Aken, vice-president of the voluntary organization, was passed at the meeting. It called for an extension of the association's jurisdiction south to Hillside and Market.

"We believe that this added territory will bring the association added prestige and acquaint new residents with the hopes and ideals of our civic club," said Van Aken.

Sanford Vickers, president of the group, announced himself firmly behind the measure.

Meeting the third Monday in each month, the recently-reorganized association boasts a membership of approximately 200 residents.

Proposals to the city council by the association have already brought stop signals to Hillside.

Higher Payments Made In Calif. Disability Ins.

More money is now being paid to more people than ever before under the California disability insurance program, but many disabled persons do not file claims and thus lose the benefits that might have been due them, according to J. M. Williams, San Francisco district manager.

"Some people are not aware that disability insurance exists and that they, the workers of the state, pay for it and are covered by it," Williams said. State law requires that employers deduct one per cent from the wages paid most types of workers, and that the money be used to provide each worker an income when he is unemployed because of disability.

Any worker who pays for disability insurance in this way is eligible to file a claim, he explained.

Maximum weekly benefits were increased this year from $25 to $30, another recent improvement extends hospital payments of $8 a day to persons receiving full wages from their employers while disabled, Williams pointed out.

Individuals who receive less than 70 per cent of their wages while disabled are now entitled to as much of their weekly benefit as is needed to bring the combined total up to 70 per cent of their average wage, he added.

Claim forms are available at all Department of Employment offices and at most hospitals and doctors' offices.

TWO 15-YEAR-OLD GIRLS, Diane Von Bremen and Laverne Maker, known as the Dixon sisters, were featured guest artists at the Tri-City Fall Festival in South San Francisco last Saturday. Recruited by Old Glory Post No. 2044 VFW in Daly City, the girls sang and did impersonations. Other events during the three day festival included a children's pageant, fashion show, parade and band concerts. Amateur acts and guest celebrities appeared on the evening show. The festival was sponsored by five Bay Area VFW Posts.

GATEWAY CHEVROLET COMPANY OPENS HERE TO SERVE LOCAL RESIDENTS

A much-needed automobile dealership was open for business in Daly City this week—the Gateway Chevrolet Company, 7400 Mission street.

During the past years Daly City has been entirely without Chevrolet service. This has forced many drivers to take their cars many miles for service.

Recognizing the need for a reliable Chevrolet dealership, Gerald Mincher, a veteran in Chevrolet service, decided to open the Gateway Chevrolet Company. He took over the building formerly occupied by Belli Buick, for he felt it was situated in a spot central enough to serve residents of the immediate Daly City area, as well as those living in Colma, Broadmoor and sections of South San Francisco.

Not only did Mincher take over the Belli building, but he also was fortunate enough to retain the services of such reliable, well-liked people as Bill Eagan, sales-manager; Andy Andersen, service manager; Clarence Kearly, parts department; and Gladys Holton, office manager. These are names familiar to every Daly City resident.

Remodeling

Now that he is in his new location, Mincher has wasted no time in remodelling the building and bringing in the finest, new equipment for servicing Chevrolets and other cars.

While servicing is an important part of the Gateway Chevrolet setup, of even more interest to local residents is the fact the company offers immediate delivery on new 1952 Chevrolets. No longer will it be necessary to go into San Francisco, or down the Peninsula. Now you and your family can see and ride in the Chevrolet by merely visiting the Gateway Chevrolet Company, 7400 Mission street.

"I am certainly anxious to meet all the fine people of Daly City," Mincher said today. "I guarantee that at Gateway they will find a wonderful selection of new Chevrolet cars and trucks as well as select used cars."

Local residents, too, are sure to find the Gateway Chevrolet Company a courteous, friendly organization with which to deal.

Name New North County Campaign Chairman For Chest

Edward J. Macfarlane, San Mateo resident and manager of the E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co., South San Francisco, has been named Advance Gifts Chairman of the north county area for the coming 1953 Community Chest Fund campaign. Macfarlane's appointment was announced by Eugene D. Fletchall, north county campaign chairman.

Macfarlane, a bachelor, resides at 112 43rd Ave., San Mateo. He is president of the San Mateo County Manufacturers Association and a member of the South San Francisco Rotary Club.

City chairmen assisting in the Advance Gifts solicitation will be Mrs. Lewis Duncan, Brisbane; Fred Bertetta, Daly City-Colma area; Remo Boragno, Millbrae; Claude G. Fourie, San Bruno-Lomita Park; Robert L. Pope, Sharp Park area; Adolph Sani, South San Francisco; and Harold Gray, San Francisco International Airport.

CHEST SETS NEW, LARGER GOAL FOR 1953 CAMPAIGN

With a goal set to show a one-third increase over last year, 18 teams, totaling 148 solicitors, will set out this week in the Advance Gifts division of the San Mateo County Community Chest 1953 Fund Campaign.

Edward E. Keller, campaign chairman, announced today that 1,528 prospective contributors throughout the county will be contacted by members of the Advance Gifts teams under the directions of the three county vice-chairmen directing this pace setting operation.

Chairmen

North county chairman in charge of solicitation is Edward J. Macfarlane, manager of the E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co. of South San Francisco; central county chairman, Bruce Watson, Watson & Co., Realtors; and south county, Dr. Wesley Wright of Palo Alto, associated with the Palo Alto Clinic.

In a recent communication to previous Advance Gifts contributors, Community Chest President Glen O. Smallcomb and Chairman Keller outlined the greater need for funds this year due to the growing population within San Mateo county and the increased cost of supporting the 22 Chest agencies now offering greater services benefitting all county residents than ever before.

Must Be Contributed Here

San Mateo county Community Chest dollars must be contributed here to be used here, according to Red Feather leaders.

Four report dinner meetings have been scheduled for the Advance Gifts pre-campaign operation beginning this week. These meetings will be held at 6 p.m. at the Peninsula YWCA building, San Mateo, on September 10, September 16, September 24 and final reports will be made September 30.

Younger, Taggart To Debate "World Peace" Issue Mon.

The first public meeting of San Mateo County's two congressional candidates in this fall's election campaign will take place at 8 p.m. Monday, September 8, when Arthur Younger, Republican, and Dr. Harold Taggart, Democrat, appear under the auspices of the Menlo Civic Interest League at the Menlo Park City Council chambers.

The local political aspirants will debate the subject: "How Best to Achieve World Peace." Serving as moderator of the discussion will be Judge J. A. Branson, Judge of the Municipal Court, Burlingame.

The kick-off meeting between the two men is expected to arouse wide public interest in view of Younger's affirmative stand on the subject of world peace and international amity as expressed during his primary campagin, and Taggert's acknowledged opinion on the same subject during their frequent public bouts in pre-primary meetings.

The Menlo Civic Interest League, a non-partisan organization, has broadened its primary purpose of keeping that city's residents informed on local events to include affairs of national and international interest during this election year, according to Reid Whiting, president of the group.

Free Fishing Trips For Tag Returners -- Report

Thirty-five out of 125 anglers returning striped bass tags to the California Department of Fish and Game during the first half of 1952 were rewarded with free fishing trips. The prizes, donated by various California fishing resorts, were awarded in a drawing sponsored by the San Francisco Striped Bass Club.

THE "MANIAC"

"The "Maniac" is the name of a machine used for computing at Los Alamos scientific laboratories in New Mexico, reports the National Automobile Club. The letters stand for "Mathematical Analyzer, Numeral Integrator, and Computer."

Big Discovery! Now They Know Why A Rat Twitches

The behavior of animals apparently varies with the frequency of impulses received and transmitted by the brain.

This is indicated in experiments with "radio-equipped" rats on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. Dr. J. A. Gengerelli, professor of psychology, is conducting the experiments.

Remote stimulation by radio waves through tiny antennae connected to the brains of the rats produced varied responses at different frequencies.

For example, at a low frequency a rat's whiskers and face muscles would vibrate. At a higher frequency the rate would rotate slowly to the left. The performance at each frequency was consistent.

Another interesting observation was that when the flow of current was reversed by rearrangement of receiving equipment, the behavior was reversed. That is to say, a mirror image of performance under the original setup occurred.

To illustrate: an impulse of a certain frequency might cause the rat to keel over to the left. When the current was reversed he would keel over to the right.

Ocean Anglers Try Mile-Deep Bottom Fishing

The deepest experimental bottom fishing ever conducted on the Pacific Coast is now under way as a joint project of the three coastal states, according to the California Department of Fish and Game.

California, Oregon and Washington fish and game agencies each have assigned marine biologists to participate in the bottom-fish research cruise of the California agency's vessel, "N. B. Scofield," which started August 12 and will end September 12.

The cruise objectives are to test fishing nets to determine the "escape sizes" for various deep-sea species.

The tri-state cruise, which began at Eureka and will wind up at Cape Flattery on Tatoosh Island of the Washington coast, is the first made by the "Scofield" since installation of new deep sea explatory gear. New, remote-controlled winches will play out 1600 fathoms of cable, and allow mile-deep drags of heretofore unknown ocean bottoms.

PEDESTRIAN SAFETY ZONES

Don't zip by these pedestrian safety zones at undiminished speed, advises the National Automobile Club. You don't have to come to a halt, but you do have to proceed only at such speed as will permit you full control of your car in the face of any emergency that may arise.

Former Resident Killed By Car

A former resident of Daly City met violent death over the Labor Day holiday.

Edward McLaughlin, 57, formerly of 1166 Brunswick street, was killed Friday night when a car hit him as he stepped out of a bus at Oak Park boulevard near Contra Costa highway in Pleasant Hills. He died a few hours later at Permanente Hospital in Oakland.

Driver of the car, Carol Atkinson, Concord, was not cited.

Mrs. McLaughlin, a former employee of THE RECORD, now resides at Concord.

"The Moon Is Blue" Will Return To United Nations

Randolph Hale, managing-director, United Nations (formerly Alcazar) Theatre, announces that due to hundreds of inquiries and requests and popular demand, he has arranged to bring back the sparkling comedy hit, "The Moon Is Blue," with the same brilliant all-star cast, including David Niven, Diana Lynn and Scott Brady, for a limited engagement of two weeks only, beginning Monday evening, September 22.

During its five weeks engagement in San Francisco earlier this summer "The Moon Is Blue" received unanimous praise from the critics and public alike. Capacity houses were the rule at every performance and hundreds of theatre-goers were unable to secure tickets during the run of the play.

Produced by Aldrich and Myers and Otto Preminger, with Mr. Preminger also serving as director, "The Moon Is Blue" has created more favorable comment than any comedy of its type presented in years. It concerns the fevers and furies of young love, and is from the pen of F. Hugh Herbert, who understands the "young" mind better than any contemporary playwright.

Matinee performances will be given on Thursday and Saturday afternoons. Mail orders are now being accepted and will be filled in the order of their receipt. The box office sale opens Thursday, September 11.

LOW OIL CONSUMPTION

Among other things that are too good to be true is the fact that the engine never seems to consume any oil, points out the National Automobile Club. If the level in the crankcase seems to remain constant after hundreds of miles of driving, it is the motorist's cue to grow suspicious that gasoline, or water caused by condensation, is responsible for keeping the supply up. Either of these fluids seeping into the crankcase will make oil consumption seem abnormally low. Both are a hint of defective piston rings.
